OFFICER WATTS GOT WORSTED

Had Two Cases in Court Saturday and Will Have to Pay Costs in Both Instances.

High Constable F. L. Watts of Monessen sort of got the worst of the deal in both cases he had in court Saturday and as a result will have to pay the costs which in all will amount to considerably over $100.

The first one tried was the surety of the peace case against Mrs. Warrick of Donner avenue which resulted from trouble at the time the officer ejected the woman's household goods from the Dillinger flat. Mrs. Warrick it seems told Watts that she would protect her property and it was thought by the officer that she meant that he would be murdered, and he had a warrant sworn out and the woman was arrested, tried and held for court. The woman was discharged Saturday.

The other case was that of F. L. Watts against C. W. Grey, colored, for surety of the peace. The officer claimed the negro pulled a gun on him. The negro was discharged.

Shorty Lee who was charged with selling liquor and running a speakeasy was given a sentence of six months in jail.

DENIES WRONG INTENTIONS

Jerry Mara, manager of the Capitol Pool rooms, was arrested in Pittsburg Saturday on a charge of larceny. It seems he left for Pittsburg Saturday morning taking the receipts of the day before, with him. As soon as Mr. Lebowitz learned of his going he telephoned to Pittsburg and Mara was arrested as he stepped from the train. Officer Kepple brought him back to Monessen. Mara says that he was intoxicated when he left for Pittsburg, otherwise he would have notified Mr. Lebowitz of his going and would have turned the money, which only amounted to $20, over to him as he had no intentions of wrong doing. A hearing in the case will likely be held this evening.

Plotted New Town Site.

W. I. Berryman of the Union Trust Co., Pittsburg and ex Sheriff J. V. Clark of Washington county, are at the head of a syndicate which has just purchased a large tract of farm land near West Middletown, and will soon divide it into lots for the market. This property is about 19 miles from Pittsburg, and the promoters have been assurred by Wabash officials that trains will be run regularly almost as soon as they are ready to place the lots on the market.

This evening the boys will hand in their individual subscription lists and start upon a new week with renewed energy.

OPERETTA GIVEN SATURDAY NIGHT VERY SUCCESSFUL

A Large and Appreciative Audience Was Present and Everybody Performed Admirably.

The operetta given at the local opera house Saturday night by home talent under the direction of Mrs. J. F. Butler was certainly a success and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience present. Over one hundred children took part and there was not one hitch from the time the curtain went up until the close of the entertainment.

The first scene was the chorus of forest children in the woodland vale, all attired in beautiful white costumes, trimmed in silver braid and each bore a streamer of one of our national colors. The electrical effects were very beautiful.

The Bruine cottage scene was quite humorous and provoked much laughter. Helen Myford as "Tiny Cub" was inimitable in her part. In the third scene where Miss Bertha Seifert as Woodland Queen and Miss Margaret Travers in the role of Golden Hair appear together in the dale, the Queen revealing a secret to Golden Hair and promising wealth and beauty if the young Princess will go to the home of the Bears and steal her coronet, the acting of both called forth much applause. Golden Hair's visit to Bruin's home in the fourth and the forest children searching through the woods for their lost Golden Hair in the fifth and last scene were also very interesting features of the entertainment.

Taken all together every member of the Cast played their parts in a manner which reflects great credit upon Mrs. Butler, under whose direction they were trained. The entertainment will be repeated this evening and a still larger crowd than that of Saturday night will likely be present.

PREACHED TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Rev. H. O. McDonald of Carmichaels, occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church yesterday, both morning and evening and preached to large and appreciative audiences. Rev. McDonald is an orator of unusual ability and his sermons were both entertaining and instructive. Following the morning sermon Rev. McDonald as Moderator of Redstone Presbytery declared the local pulpit vacant.

OUR PRESIDENT.

One man, and one man only, is responsible for the uprising of the voters of all parties against the bosses which is attracting country-wide attention in the United States today. That man is Theodore Roosevelt.

He has proved himself the greatest tamer of bosses the country has ever known.

His influence and his example have caused the smashing of more corrupt machines in the last three years than had been distroyed previously in a decade.

His personality has been an inspiration to enemies of the personal rule of the boss, of the practice of mixing business and politics, of the system of personally selecting the delegates to conventions and of the general rule that conventious were to accord the will of the central head rather than that of the entire party.

Put in few words, he has stood for the open game in politics. This meant that the secret back room conference between the boss and the corporation was to end: that that the primaries were to be wide open to all members of the party who cared to participate: that young men who has been excluded from the honors of party and from any participation in party affairs, were to be encouraged, and that an advance would necessarily follow in the direction of ideal representative government.

He wanted clean, active, courageous and intelligent men to take an interest in the affairs of parties.

But this is only one of the many steps he has taken. He has endeavored to hold aloof from cabals organized to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpayers.

He has tried to smash rings formed to clothe themselves in party raiment to snatch power to be used to personal advantage.

It is safe to say that if Mr. Roosevelt will accept he will be the next republican nominee for president for his administration has been a broad and impartial one, and today he stands elevated in the estimation of the American people as the greatest benefactor.

TONIGHT at 8 o'clock the Monessen curfew law goes into effect and the gong on the M. E. church will be sounded when all persons under sixteen years of age, who are roaming the streets without a parent or guardian will be chased home. Mayor Shutterly has declared his intentions of enforcing the ordinance and those who have been making a practice of playing on the streets had better change their tactics. If the ordinance is enforced it will greatly change the conditions which exist in Monessen at at present with regards to the younger sex.

Here's Just the Right Bowel Laxative

Gentle, Sure—Pleasant to Take—A Tried and True, Genuine, Nature's Remedy.

If you do not have free, easy and regular movements of the bowels you lack the prime and first essential of good health. There's more harm done than mere uncomfortableness, sluggishness and biliousness—retention of food wastes in the bowels pollutes, irritates and poisons. You make the circulatory system—the blood—a scavenger instead of a fountain of purest life and untainted vitality. The ills of constipation are not trifling but nearly always are fraught with vital significance. Seek your relief in Nature! Accept the gentle natural aid of Lax-ets! Be sure not to force and crowd the delicate organs of the stomach! Avoid all the danger of powerful and unknown medicines! Your safety and your health are always secured—if you take Lax-ets. The formula is on every box. Show it to your family physician. Lax-ets are put up in a flat metal case in handy tablet form—one tablet taken before meals or on retiring always brings relief. Pleasing to take, the most potent yet gentle of all remedies—a genuine help of Nature's—a bowel laxative which cures constipation. Recommended and for sale by Galien, Mich.

Gentlemen: I bought three bottles of your medicine from my druggist. The medicine reached me very good service, but I am sorry to say that the druggists here are all sold out of your medicine. I should have bought six bottles instead of three. I will gladly take six bottles of the Nervine and Blood Tonic, and request that you write me, if you are able to read this, for I am rather old to write. I have suffered six years from NERVOUS TROUBLE, caused by a fall, and my whole body remained in a tremble, but no pain. Every doctor I consulted failed to help me, and I was compelled to give up all housework. Then I read your advertisement and bought your medicine, and almost immediately after commencing its use I was a new woman. I hope you will write me at once, and tell me how much money I must send, as I am anxious to get to using your medicine again soon. With most hearty regards, I remain.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Alvina A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 10C pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

Did She Meet Him?

(Original.)

During the closing years of the nineteenth century an old widower with a daughter had a summer residence on the eastern end of Long Island. Evelyn Cameron not having a mother, being devoted to her father, and he very careful of her, had not to her nineteenth year seen anything of the world. In June of that year she was invited to go with a party to West Point to attend the graduating exercises of the cadets. Her father with much trepidation consented to her going. One would have supposed they were parting, the one to go around the world.

To a girl who has never seen anything of life, especially of military life, West Point in the month of roses is a fairyland. The broad plain, encircled with mountains, the river bending around on the other side, the sounds of martial music, men in uniform constantly hastening hither and thither, all give a picture such as civil life never affords. Among others, one of the graduating class, a handsome, manly young fellow, every inch a soldier, was introduced to Evelyn, and the mingling of their two young hearts was as complete as it was sudden. At the end of her visit Evelyn returned to her father at the seashore and when they were clasped in each other's arms she knew that a new world had been opened to her, a new love had come to her compared with which the old was as twilight before the rising sun. But not dreaming that the new would shut out the old, she told her father all. He bore the news manfully, but the moment Evelyn had gone to her room he sank into a chair and groaned.

Lieutenant Victor Paine received a leave after graduating and spent it by the ocean with Evelyn. If the towering hills, the beautiful plains and bending river had been inspiring to the lovers, the roll of the waves was equally so. But there was a muttering of a coming war storm far to the south that tinged the eternity of waters with sadness. To the soldier it appeared but faintly; to Evelyn it darkened the world. When it broke it found the young soldier full of enthusiasm, while it seemed to suck the life from the girl. One would have thought that it was she, not he, who was going to death's camping ground.

The parting took place at a rustic seat built between three trees. From there a path wound down through a wood to the village and the railroad station. Evelyn clung to her lover. Again and again he strove to unwind her arms. Then he said:

"Think of my return. This cannot be a long war. It will be ended before you go back to town. I will write you when I am coming and you will meet me here—here where we are parting. Then we will have a wedding, after which there will probably be no parting for years."

After arms relaxed, and, placing her on the seat, after one more embrace the young man hurried down the path.

Then came the battle. Las Guasimas, El Caney and others. As the news was received with list of killed and wounded, though her lover's name was not among them, each report gave Evelyn a blow from which she failed to rebound. May there not be love so strong that it reaches beyond things material, groping into what is spiritual? If Evelyn saw death in the future she said nothing of it, the only evidence of presentiment was the constant and increasing blight. Letters came with as much regularity as could be expected from a soldier in the field. Frequently a number would come together, when Evelyn would shut herself in her room or go down to the seat where she had parted with Victor and read them again and again.

Her father watched her anxiously. He did all he could to divert her mind, but he could not do much and what he did was without effect. He dreaded to have her go to the parting and expected trysting place, for when she returned she was always the more drooping. Finally, when the Spaniards surrendered and all was over, she surprised him by not going to the place at all.

Just before the end Victor wrote that he had been ordered on a duty which would prevent his sending letters with any regularity. From that time no news came from him, while the troops sailed for home, and one day a fleet of transports appeared on the horizon. Evelyn watched them first with a glass, then with her naked eyes while they approached, and saw them pass on to the eastward. They were making for Montauk Point.

Toward evening Evelyn went to the trysting place. She did not return at dusk and her father went to look for her. It had grown so dark that he could not see plainly, and he called to her. There was no reply. Seeing something white on the rustic seat the old man, sure it was his daughter, called again, but still there was no reply. Reaching the place, there was Evelyn sitting on the seat, her back supported between two of the trees.

"My daughter," exclaimed the old man, "what is the matter? Why did you not answer?"

Still she did not speak, and, grasping her hand, he found it cold. She was dead.

In time news came from Victor Paine. He had been in the interior of the island when the surrender came and knew nothing of the peace that was to come. His little band was surprised by Spaniards and every man killed.

Who knows but that she may have met him in the spirit and gone with him to a bridal of death?

WIFE BEATER GOT FINED

Ted Budris Took it Upon Himself to Chastise His Better Half and Landed in Limbo.

Ted Budris, a Slav, was arraigned before Mayor F H Shutterly this morning on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct preferred by arresting officer Chief Woolsey Ted, when arrested Sunday night by Chief Woolsey was batting nobly with an enormous jag and seemed to be under the impression that his chief aim in life was to further establish his authority over the paternal roost with the aid of a stout strap applied over Mrs Budris' shoulders.

This morning Ted denied being drunk and also that he had mistreated his wife but stated that through her familiarity with other men she sometimes deserved it. His wife Tressa appeared against him as the principal witness. She testified that Ted was in the habit of getting loaded and while in that condition he invariably wound up his spree by giving her a brutal beating

She said that one evening last week he returned home intoxicated and becoming enraged over some trivial matter, knocked her down, kicked her and would probably have killed her but for the timely arrival of neighbors She said that Budris was insanely jealous without cause whatever and that she feared for her life and that of her baby

Mayor Shutterly brought the case to a close by fining Budris $15 and costs and delivering to him a severe lecture, saying that in case he appeared before him again on a similar charge he would not get off so easily

Victor Nastee got on a little toot Saturday night and was picked up by one of the local cops He plead guilty this morning and was assessed $2 and costs. He had also got bunged up a little during the course of his travels and a doctor bill of $5 00 also had to be settled before Victor was turned loose

Jane Green, a prepossessing mulatto, in company with a companion of chocolate hue, repaired to Electric park after sundown last evening to enjoy a social little chat and to partake of a little of that inspiring fluid known in common parlance as booze. Their little tete-a tete was interrupted by a blue coat who insisted that the couple repair to the boro bastile to finish their love making as he was afraid the chill night air might have a bad effect Jane's companion seemed particularly loathe to do the other's bidding and in a very ungentlemanly manner skidooed, while Jane was accompanied to the town hotel, given a room all to her lonesome and left to her thoughts. Jane's friends seem very few and she may be given a vacation for a month or so

Grant Wier got an exaggerated idea of his capacity for fire water into his head Saturday night and a trip to the boro bastile in company with Officer Hamilton resulted Grant put up a forfeit of $5 but forgot to appear for a hearing

Dear Sir We asked City Drug Co Crystal Springs, Miss, to sell Devoe. They wanted to know of their own knowledge, how it compared with another paint they knew all about—it was sold right there, and considered good

They painted the house of W B McCulney two coats on purpose to test the two paints against one another one coat Devoe 6 gallons, the other coat that other paint 10 gallons. Difference $20, $7 for paint, $13 for labor

That other paint is made in New Orleans, is pure, is considered an excellent paint, and has a good deal of local goodwill.

But the standard of paint has been low all through the southwest. That paint is thin, it is, you see, six-tenths of a paint. Devoe saves $20 over it on half a small job.

It is a case of local best compared with actual best.

Yours truly,
